The Flexible Learning Program (FLP) is designed to prepare students for transition into further training or the workplace whether that is during Year 11 or 12 or at the completion of Year 12. The program seeks to be flexible enough to meet individual student needs- students typically study English, Maths, Careers and Workplace Learning with their FLP teacher and access a subject of interest in the main school or off-site at TAFE one day per week. The main focus of FLP is to support students through their learning program, foster career choices and planning, develop critical work skills and confidence.

Students work in partnership with their FLP teacher and parents to negotiate an Individual Education Plan based on their learning needs and anticipated career goals including the option of successful transition into training or work before the completion of Year 12 or completing Year 12 and achieving graduation.

The Flexible Learning Program supports options available to students when considering their goals over the course of Year 11 and 12. Student goals can be:

- a) Complete Year 11 and 12 and work towards attaining the Western Australian Certificate of Education (graduation)
- b) Apply and enrol into full time TAFE training at the end of each semester or as courses become available.
- c) Transition into an apprenticeship, traineeship or employment at any stage.

The Flexible Learning Program allocates 1-2 staff members per class and dedicated facilities to ensure students have a safe and welcoming environment in which to work.
